A talk by Dr Helen Brookes - University of Kent

A NIGHT AT THE 18C THEATRE

Take a journey back in time and learn just how different theatre was back in the 18th century. Focussing on the smash hit The Beggar's Opera (1729) by John Gay, and using a range of virtual, aural and textural sources, this talk will reveal what it was like to watch, as well as what it was like to perform in the 18th century theatre. Celebrity culture, acting styles, and audience interaction will be just some of the topics explored.
